Electricity Sector Reform

Regulation and Legislation

Multiple changes to energy landscape to benefit market participants include:

 Electricity Law	New law aimed at complying with EU Third Energy Package. Legal unbundling of Oblenergo operations into distribution and supply.	First reading approved in Parliament of Ukraine on September 22, 2016. Final approval expected by the end of 2016.
 Independent Regulator Law	Enhance political and financial autonomy for the Regulator.	Passed by Parliament of Ukraine on September 22, 2016.
 Regulatory Asset Base (RAB) Tariff	Tariffs will incorporate regulated rates of return on new and existing assets. Qualifying Oblenergos will receive a tariff for a three-year period, with an optional extension for five additional years, reducing risks for future cash flow.	RAB incentive tariff structure methodology already approved by regulator. Finalization of asset valuation methodology and attractive rates of return expected by the end of 2016.
 Tariff Reforms	Residential tariffs will increase 3.5 times to towards cost-reflective levels by 2017 to reduce cross-subsidies.	Implementation planned in a five-step process. As of July 2016, four of the five increases have occurred on schedule. The final increase is expected on March 1, 2017.
